

A BETTER LIFE.
The best in medicine.

The county seat of historic Bedford County, Shelbyville is a charming, peaceful town located along the scenic Duck River in southern Middle Tennessee. Among Shelbyville's many attractions are its numerous music and cultural events, including the renowned Tennessee Walking Horse National Celebration.

Supporting this classic American town and the surrounding region is an outstanding hospital with a name instantly associated with medical excellence: Vanderbilt Bedford Hospital. Accredited by The Joint Commission and certified by the American Heart Association, Vanderbilt Bedford Hospital is a 60-bed facility that offers a range of inpatient and outpatient medical and surgical care.

Our physicians, nurses, technicians and staff embrace the many benefits of living and working in a tight-knit community blessed with abundant natural beauty, a strong and diverse economy, beautiful and affordable homes, arts and entertainment, countless sports and recreational opportunities, and a comfortable, small-town culture.

It is a rare combination: a place to enjoy the good life, the simpler life, while benefiting from the world-class resources of Vanderbilt Health.

Residents of Shelbyville enjoy:

- Strong community. Shelbyville is a compact, walkable town where you're always just a short stroll from unique shops, retail centers, restaurants, theaters and entertainment. We love celebrating life with gatherings such as the American Mule and Bluegrass Festival, Wartrace Music Festival, and the nationally known Tennessee Walking Horse National Celebration. Another popular local tradition is the Webb School Art & Craft show in Bell Buckle, Tennessee, a two-day event that draws more than 250,000 visitors.
- Outdoor recreation. Shelbyville is close to three popular lakes—Normandy, Tims Ford, and Woods Reservoir—and runs along the Duck River, one of the most biologically diverse rivers in North America. You can spend all day outdoors fishing, boating, biking or hiking, or you can go play 18, enjoy the pool and have dinner at Shelbyville's River Bend Country Club.
- Local and nearby attractions. Shelbyville is where many of the finest things in life can be found. In addition to our natural and cultural attractions, residents and tourists alike enjoy a visit to the Lynchburg Winery—a short drive from Shelbyville—and the Nearest Green Distillery, part of Tennessee's famous Whiskey Trail (tnwhiskeytrail.com). Shelbyville is centrally located, only about an hour's drive to Nashville, Tennessee, and Huntsville, Alabama.
